one way you can learn about justice issues
one way you can seek God
one way you can act and make a difference

LEARN

Engaging with our minds and learning new perspectives is always helpful in justice-work. This month we want to point you toward a resource about justice, specifically how we are called to live lives that are marked by mercy and reject injustice.

This resource and others are featured on our Lifestyle of Justice page

SEEK GOD

Often, injustice is not seen, and justice is not done because of the sin and brokenness inside of us all. Prejudice, indifference, pride, and entitlement are in each of us, and they need to be searched out. A life of love and justice must start here—with dying to self so that Christ might be glorified through us. Christ redeems us, transforms us, and makes us holy so that we can love and serve others. We encourage you to take what you've learn from the article above and earnestly seek the God, using these prayer prompts.

- Pray daily for God to break your heart for the things that break His.
- Work to become a renewed heart and mind, a new creation, a living example of how the broken structures inside us all can be transformed. (2 Cor 5:17)
- Reflect on any feelings of guilt and lack of compassion.
- Spend time addressing personal conceptions of race, dignity, and equality, as well as your responsibility to embrace others. (Gal 3:28)
- Wrestle with your sincerity for social and economic transformation

ACT

As we use November to concentrate on our LIFESTYLE OF JUSTICE, we are inviting you to do something different-

BE A TOURIST IN YOUR OWN CITY!

Join us on a WALKING TOUR OF CAPE TOWN.

We are joining our friends from ISIPHAMBANO (Centre for Biblical Justice). As a team, we have taken part in this tour and we HIGHLY recommend that all capetonians take part!

The Story of the Church is a pilgrimage through the Cape Town CBD, visiting historic sites of injustice and liberation, which allow for reflection on our heritage and our legacy as the church in South Africa. Both as an instrument of injustice and as a liberating force for justice in our City.

The Story of our Church
